Introduction

This guide is based on the formatting requirements for papers submitted to the Engineering Management Journal (EMJ). The information is drawn from http://www.tandfonline.com/action/authorSubmission?journalCode=uemj20&page=instructions&.

EMJ follows the style guidelines from the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th edition. This documentation style requires in-text citations of referenced works to be given in the Author-Year format. References are listed alphabetically by author(s) last name(s) in a reference section, titled “References,” at the end of the work.

General Formatting Requirements

- Papers should be double-spaced, with one-inch margins, and typed using 12-point Times New Roman font.
- Tables and figures (called exhibits) should be numbered consecutively and placed on separate pages, with an indication in the text of their location.
- Footnotes are not allowed.

Abstract

Papers must include an abstract suitable for retrieval purposes. The abstract should be no longer than 100 words, and it should summarize the purpose, scope, results and conclusions. The abstract should not contain citations.

In-Text Citations

The author(s) name(s), or the name of the corporate author, and the year of publication, separated by a comma, are placed in parentheses immediately following the information cited. When a work has three to five authors, all of the authors’ names are given the for the first reference, but subsequent references list the first author followed by et al. (no italics) and the year. When a work has six or more authors, the first author’s name is given, followed by et al. (no italics) and the year. Citations must correspond to entries in the reference section.

Basic format:

This is the sentence in the text (Author, Year).
Examples:

From a policy perspective and with respect to the size of its budget and the projects it sponsors, it is most similar to the British Alvey program (Dodgson, 1993).

The majority of dogs with NOAI have primary AI (Hanson et al., 2015).

Reference Section

The reference list is placed at the end of the document, and is titled References. This title should be centered at the top of the page. All reference entries begin on the left margin, and second and subsequent lines are indented three spaces. Entries are listed alphabetically by author. Authors are listed by last name, first initial, and middle initial. Like the body of the document, the reference page should be double-spaced.
